

COMMUNITY-POLICE AND TRIBAL PROGRAMS

The IACP's Institute for Community-Police Relations is putting together a searchable directory of community and tribal policing programs. Law enforcement executives can use the directory to learn about, be inspired by, and perhaps implement similar programs within their agencies. This directory will be publicly available on the IACP website and will include a snapshot of each program, information about the agency, and basic contact information. Each program will be tagged with key words for easy searching.
